

Persona: Bianca Zeigler,
Freshmen in College

Scenario: Downloading app to find professors office hours

Ahh, I have so much work to do, including school and work. Plus, I have this big test coming up on Friday. I wish I could find my professor's office hours.

Let me check the app store and see if there is something. I don't have a lot of time to be searching, I have to get to work.

Yay, there we go. I place I put in my professor's name, and everything came right up.

* Instead of Job Search it would say Office Hours Search *

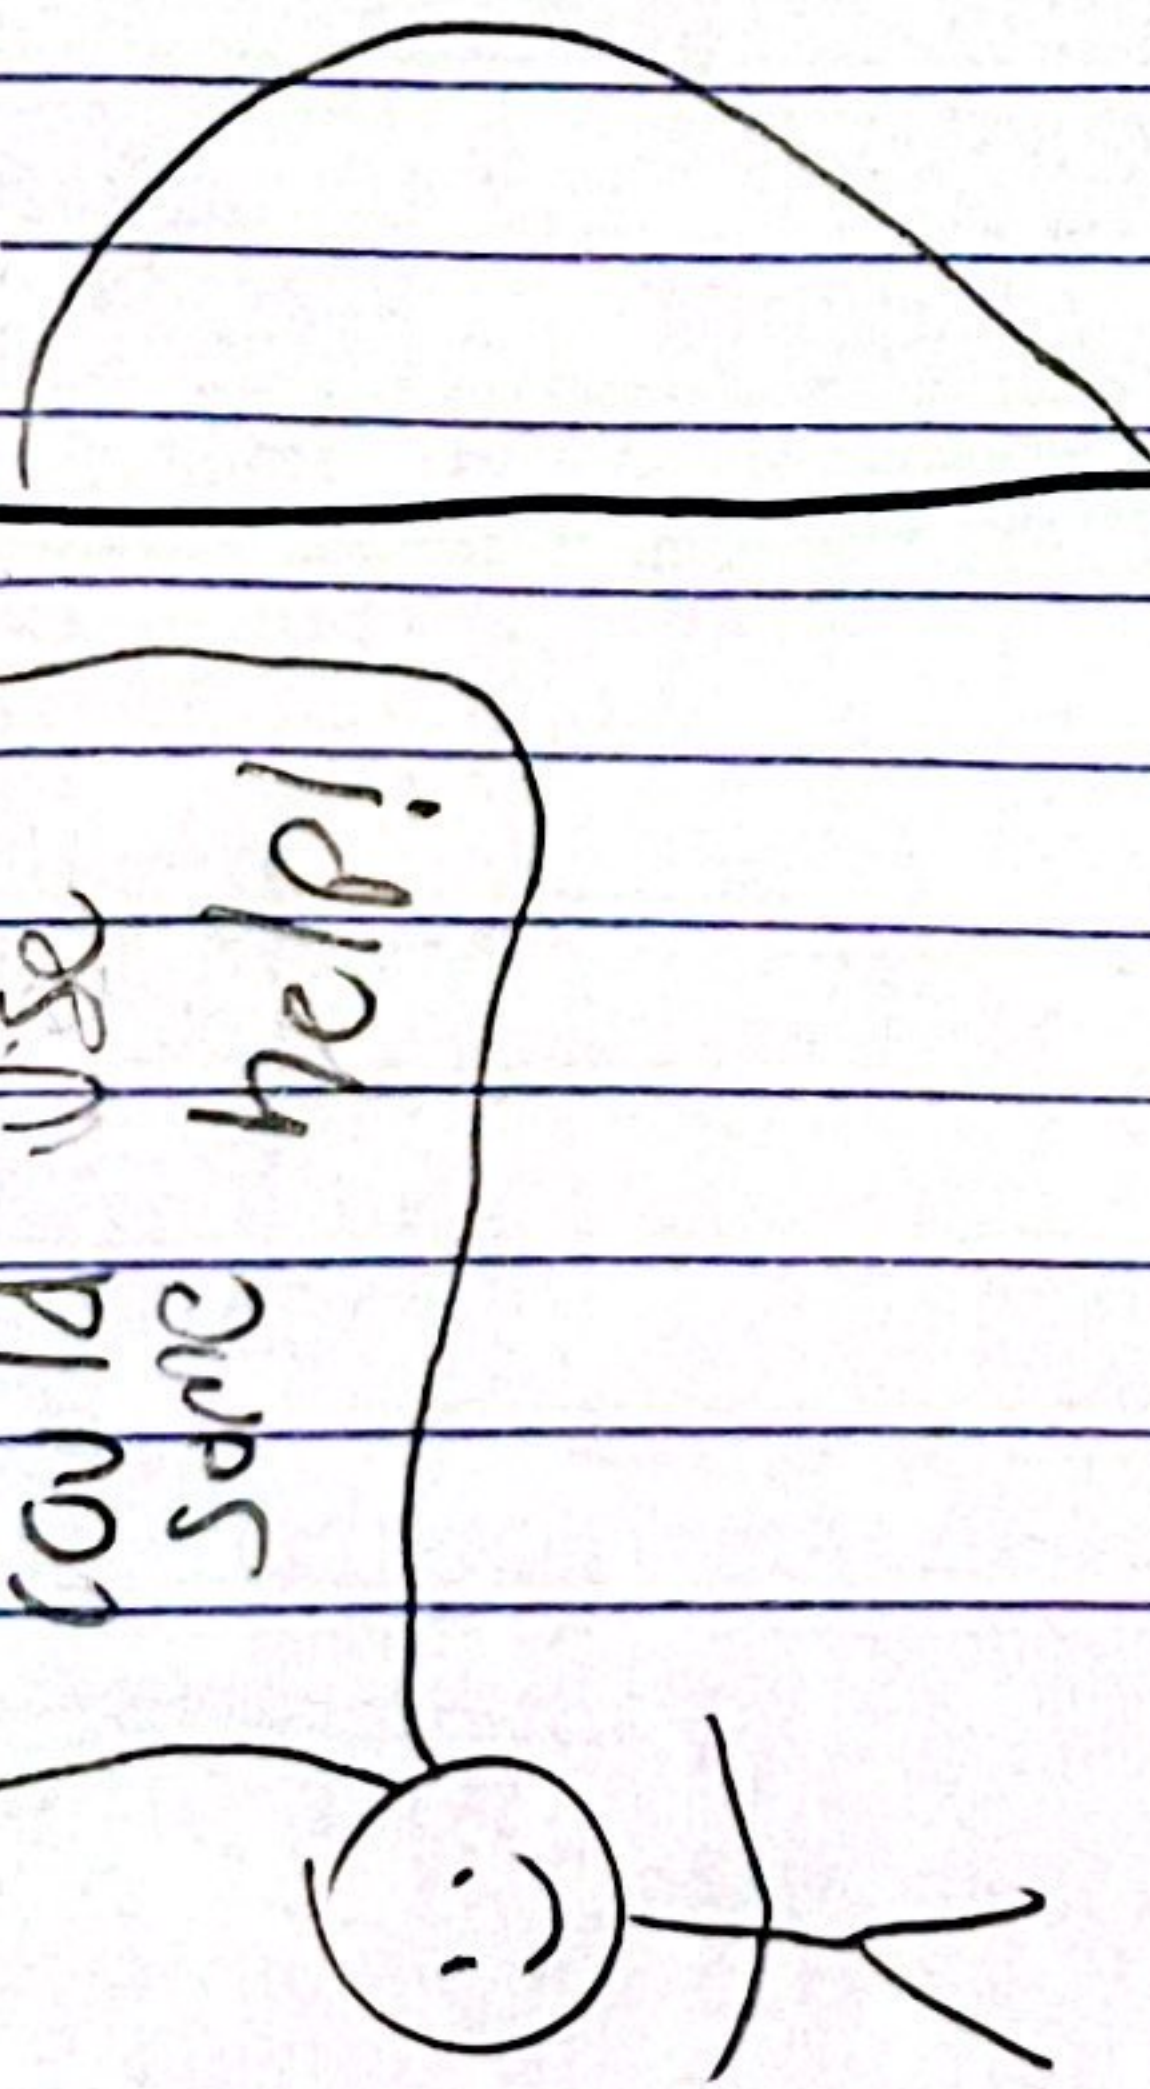

Perfect, I was able to set one up and able to meet with him before my test on Friday! I got a 90!

Persona: Thomas Anderson (TA)

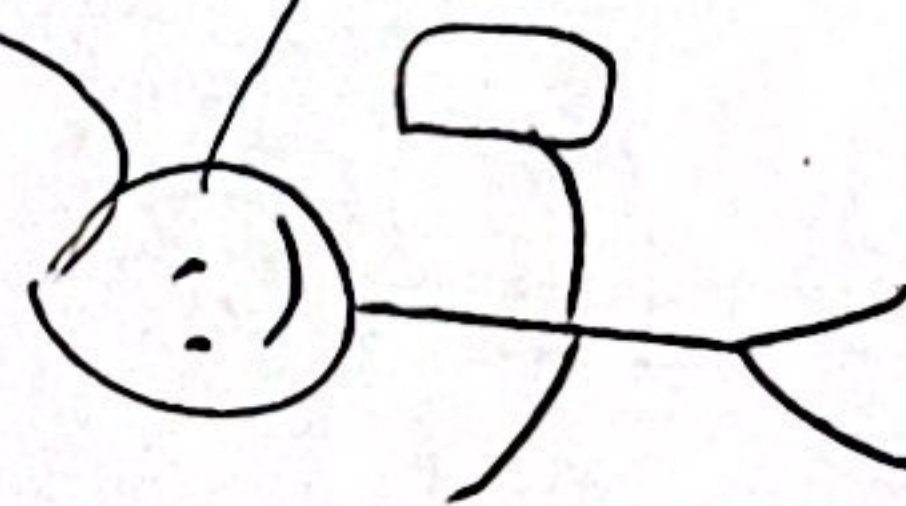

Scenario: TA holds study session

These students could use some help!

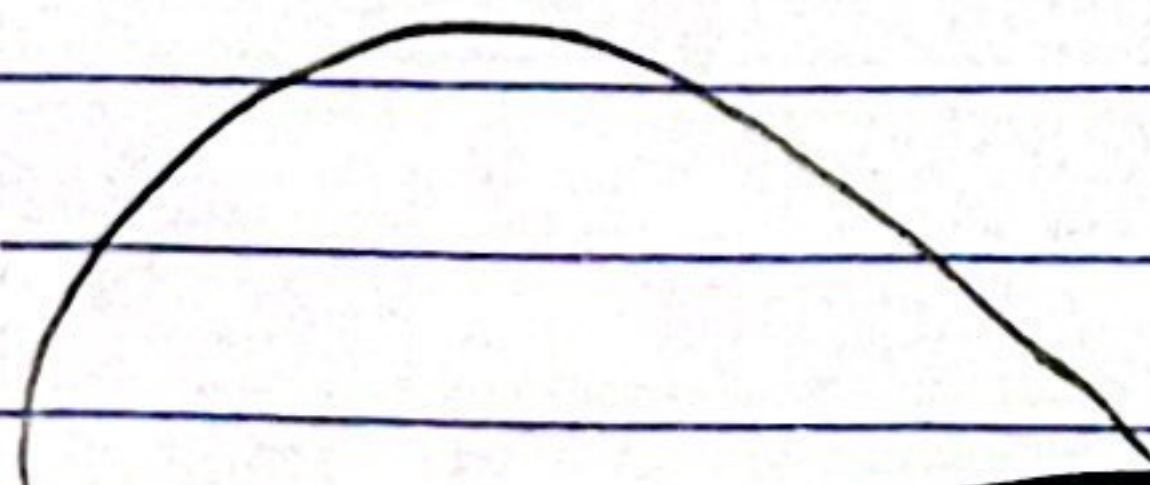

Thomas decides to hold a study session

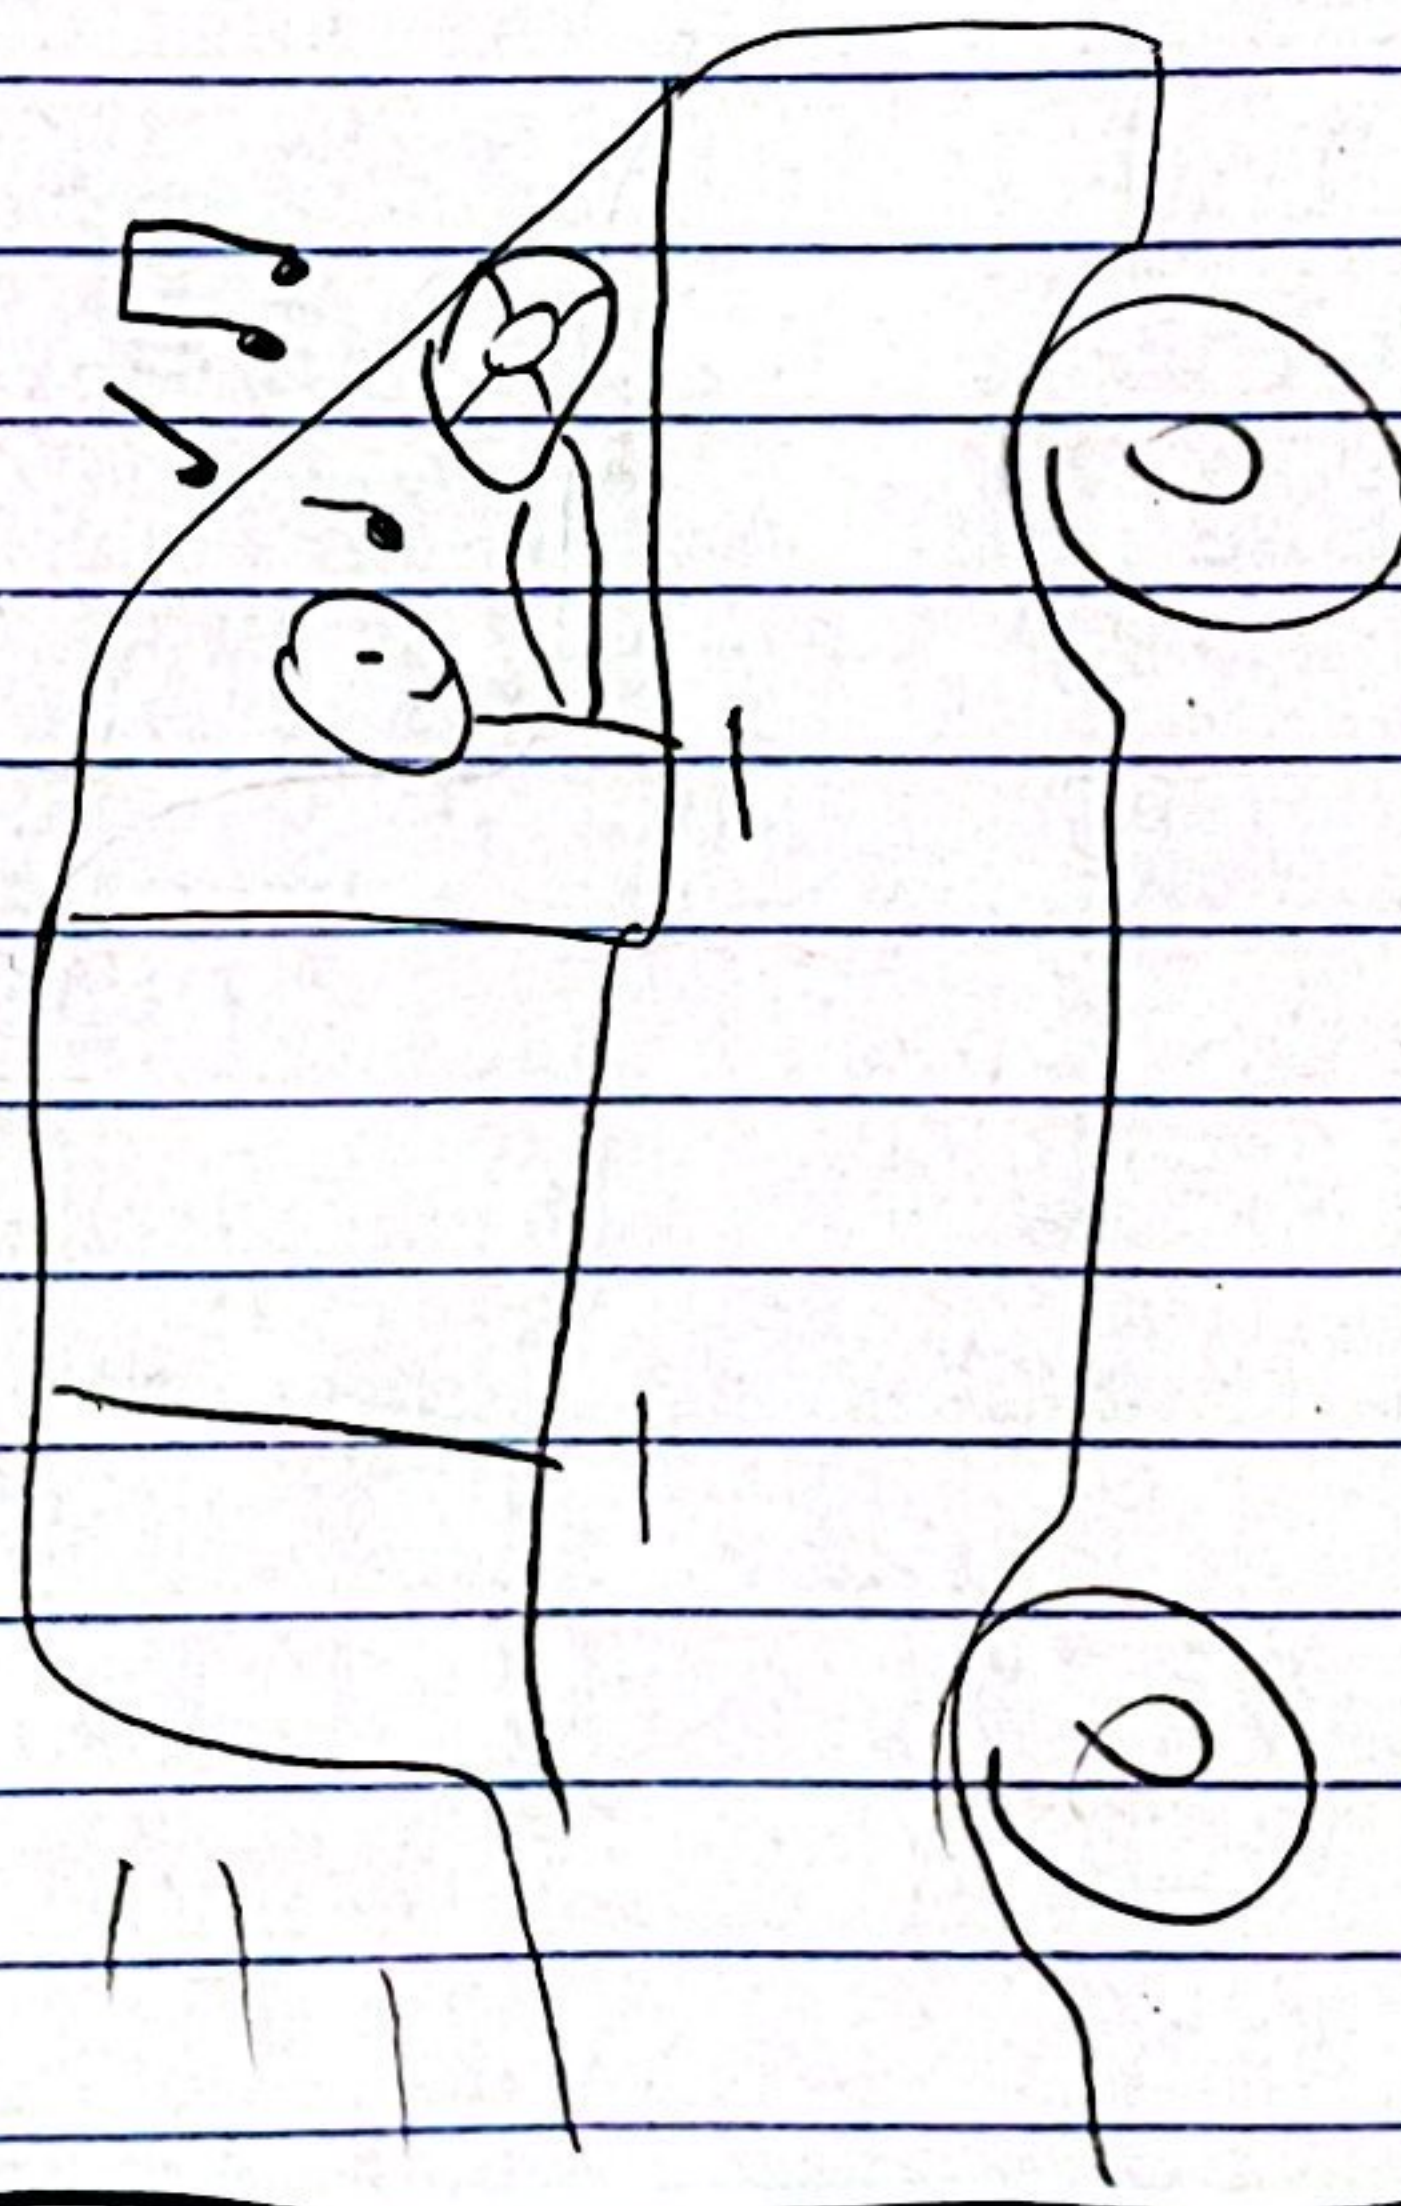

That should be a good time + place!

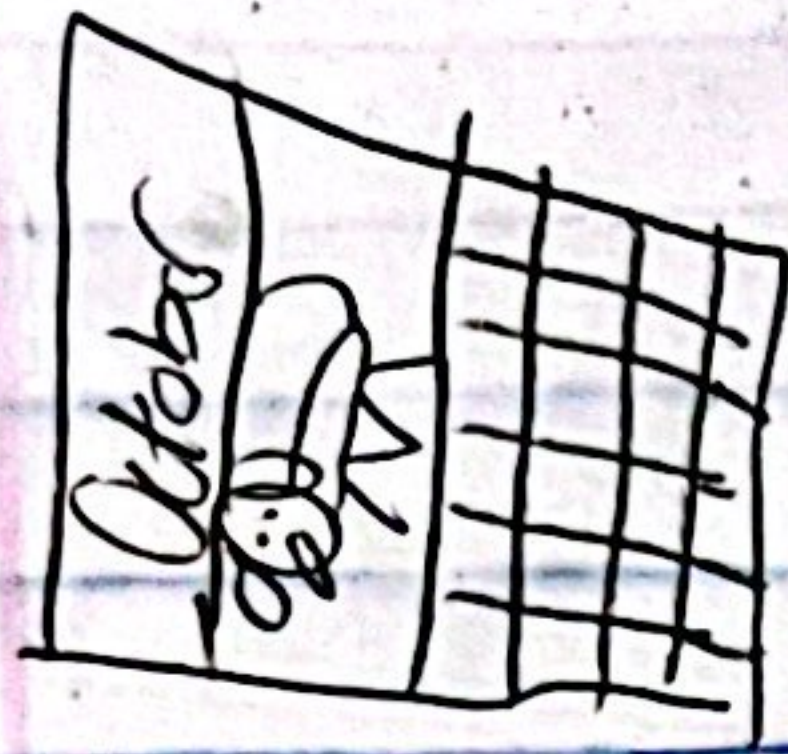

Thomas sends out the information on the study session

Thomas opens the app

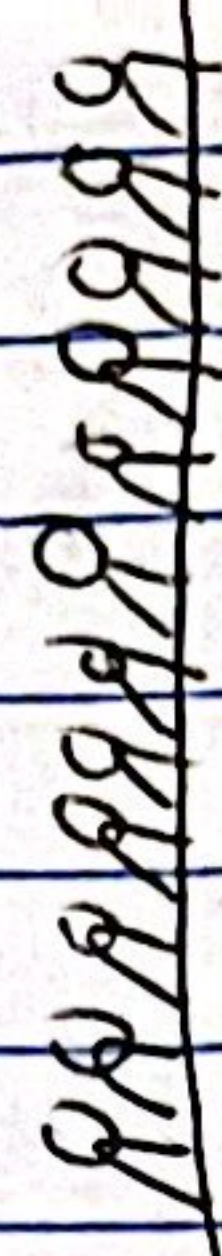

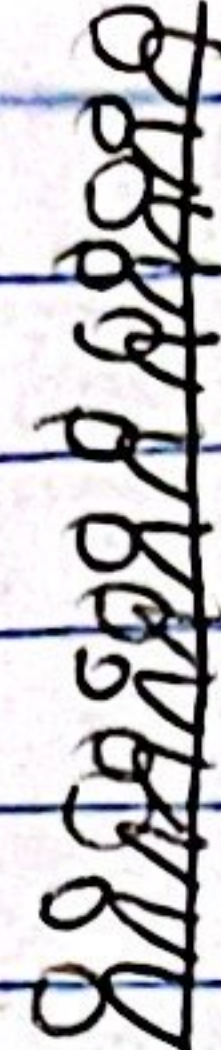

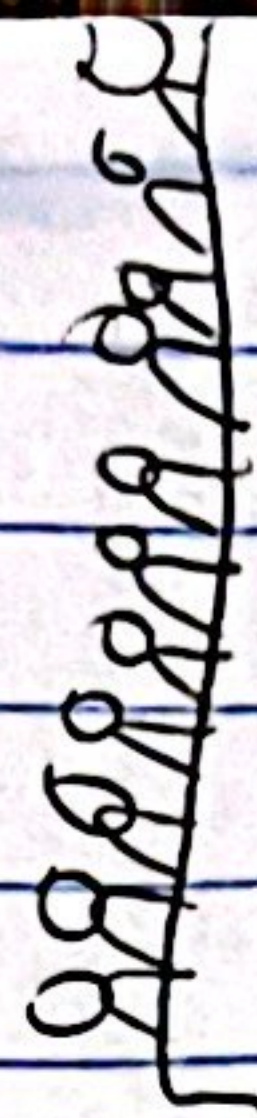

Thomas goes to study session

Hmm I'm so busy.

Thomas decides on what time

Wow!

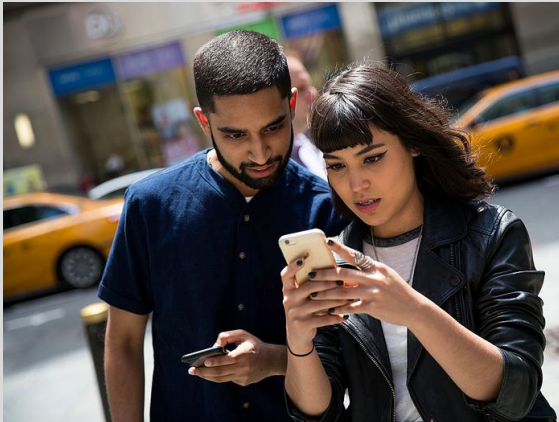

Thomas is excited at how well the app worked.

I am not feeling well after a long day of classes and I think I should rest at home instead of staying for office hours but how do I warn my students so that they see it in time before they show up?

I don't think a lot of students check their emails so maybe if I send out a notification that the office hours are canceled all the students will see since they are always on their phones these days

All I need to do is click cancel office hours and notify students for each class its super easy!

Now I can rest in bed today with my family without worrying about my students waiting for me at office hours!
